To whom it may concern:

I am writing in recommendation of Bud Ryerson as a video editor. I have known and worked with Bud for almost twenty years and know him to be both an excellent editor and a fine person who brings a high-level of personal involvement to every project on which he works. He is a superb storyteller with a great intuition for the ebb and flow of the cut and the art of pacing. He is accomplished at managing content and delivering a clear and precise message for informational programs and is equally at home working with emotional and motivational works requiring sensitivity and grace.

Bud is also an experienced and talented technical editor who merges creative editorial with a rock solid understanding of the video signal and the technical demands of the media. His many years of editing professional, polished and technically sound programs make Bud a valuable resource for anyone who cares about quality and desires to see that quality on the screen.

Finally, Bud is a reliable, hardworking editor who can be trusted with a tight schedule or difficult material and always brings his best effort to the project at hand. I recommend him whole-heartedly.

Sincerely,

Kim Salyer
